8-b Progress Report on the Real Time Emergency Information Sharing System
Mr. Shigeru Kimura of IEEJ

As secretariat of the Real Time Emergency Information Sharing System (RTEIS system), the Institute of Energy Economics, Japan (IEEJ) carried out the following activities after the EWG45 held in Samui Island Thailand, in March 2013;

- a. Update of the weekly crude oil prices, WTI of New York, Brent of London and Dubai of Tokyo markets respectively. The latest updating of data on the prices is 8th November 2013. (refer to page 3)
- b. Update of the monthly crude oil prices of WTI, Brent and Dubai and monthly petroleum products prices at New York, London and Singapore Markets. The latest updating of data on the prices is October 2013.
- c. Release of the RTEIS newsletters for the months of March, May, July and October in 2013. The issues in each newsletter are;
 - “Oil price trend and economic situation of US & EU” and “Diesel fuel in EU” in March 2013
 - “Ratio of gasoline to diesel fuel in price and demand in EU” in May 2013
 - “Price hike of WTI” and “Crude oil production in US” in July 2013
 - “Petroleum demand in Japan” in October 2013

Recently the strong typhoon left serious damage in the middle part of the Philippines but there are no information of damage on any energy facilities such as refineries and power stations. However supply of energy such as petroleum products and electricity are disrupted currently. So the secretariat of this system would like to suggest Philippines DOE to apply this system for sharing information on disruption level of energy supply, necessary support on energy supply and communications with EWG members.

The emergency contact list in the RTEIS is should be updated to latest one. IEEJ suggests the EWG members to review the list, attached on next, and update it if necessary. When the members want to update their contact persons of the RTEIS, please do not hesitate to inform the secretariat (kimura@edmc.ieej.or.jp). The lists will be updated every time the secretariat receives information from APEC economies.

The web address of the RTEIS system is <http://www.ieej.or.jp/egeda/real-time/>. This system is secured by ID and Password.
